

iSoftStone Company Description - Short

iSoftStone is a global IT services and consulting company that helps enterprises innovate and transform through modern technology solutions. With deep expertise in AI, cloud, data and digital engineering, we partner with organizations to design build, and support scalable digital platforms that improve efficiency, enhance customer experiences, and drive long-term business growth. We move enterprises from AI ambition to enterprise-scale execution through partner-aligned, production-ready solutions.

iSoftStone Company Description - Long iSoftStone is a global IT services and consulting company that creates value and drives success for clients through technology solutions, service excellence, and digital innovation. We partner with enterprises to design, develop, and support digital solutions across web and application development, software testing support, data and content management, digital experience, accessibility, and AI-driven technologies.

At iSoftStone, we believe technology is most powerful when it strengthens relationships and builds trust. Our teams bring diverse expertise and perspectives to every engagement, helping organizations innovate, transform, and achieve meaningful business outcomes through modern technology solutions.

Vision

To empower organizations worldwide in achieving their full potential by driving digital progress and growth.

Mission

Create value and drive success for our clients through technology solutions, service excellence, and digital innovation.